RETIRING COUNCIL- LORS RE-ELECTED

At the Municipal election of the Carbon district, held last Saturday Feb. 26, R. S. Near, C. M. Stenberg and Geo. H. Webber, the retiring councillors, were re-elected to office. T. J. King, the other member running for office, was defeated in 5 out of the 7 polling divisions. The count was as follows:

	King	Near	Stenberg	Webber
Gamble	31	38	31	27
Orkney	2	25	24	24
Mun. Off.	25	35	31	23
Kern	4	20	20	19
Hesketh	8	34	32	31
Chch. Hill	4	70	68	71
N. Springs	13	19	18	26
TOTAL	87	241	224	221

There were four spoiled ballots. The by-law to change the method of electing councillors from the present system to the ward system was also voted on at the same time and was carried, the vote being 143 for and 63 against.

Red Trail Items

Ted Becker is busy shovelling out his traps, which were covered up by the recent snow falls.

A surprise party was given J. Shaber on the evening before his departure. An enjoyable evening was had by all those attending.

With the return of the Becker boys, the Big Six orchestra is in full swing again.

Emil and Sam Sulzle, Albert Huether and Harry and Ed Becker attended the Hart-Parr school at Calgary last week. The power farmers are rapidly increasing in this district.

Emil Sulzle had quite a time in getting a load of straw to his place on Monday. After two upsets on the road, he finally succeeded in arriving at his destination.

Mrs. Albert Huether is ill with the influenza.

Jacob Hoff is up and around again, after a few days illness with the flu.

HESKETH SPARKLETS

Mr. H. Dewar and Nat Moore returned home after spending the winter working in the mines at Drumheller.

Mike Robbins and family are back again after spending the winter in Calgary.

Miss Mabel Andrew became the bride of T. J. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Lewis of somewhere in Wales. The ceremony was performed in Calgary at the First Baptist church, the bridegroom being Chas. Andrew.

As the groom approached the altar he was the cynosure of all eyes. Blushing prettily, he replied to the questions of the clergyman in low but firm tones. He was charmingly clad in a 3-piece suit of dark brown material. A pretty story was current among the wedding guests that the coat was the same worn by his father and grandfather on their wedding days. Mr. Lewis neither denies or affirms the truth of this sentimental touch. Conspicuous on the front of the vest was the groom's favorite piece of jewelry, his returned button, and from the upper left pocket was suspended a large Ingersoll watch, which flashed and gave the needed touch of brilliance to the costume.

MINSTREL SHOW DRAWS BIG CROWD

The minstrel show, put on by a number of the Carbon people, in the Farmers Exchange Hall last Thursday night, was one of the best attended events of the season people coming from all parts of the district to see the performers "do their stuff".

although space does not permit us to give a full account of the program, some thirty numbers, still the most outstanding features were the "Darkey's Sermon," by J. A. MacDonald and the Step Dancing by Stuart Hay. All the other numbers were up to the standard and the acting well done throughout the entire program.

The show was followed by a dance and most of the crowd stayed for this part of the evening entertainment. The local 5-piece orchestra furnished the music and at midnight refreshments were served.

The proceeds, which are to go towards the repairing of the dam, amounted to about $250, and with the aid of the proceeds from the other three dances, two of which are yet to be held, a substantial sum should be on hand to go ahead and fix the dam so that it will last in years to come, provided some one well posted on the construction work is given charge of the undertaking.

Swalwell

M. Dougherty paid a flying business trip to Calgary during the past week.

Mrs. Bert Tricker was also a visitor to the City.

Mrs. Gardner is back again after an extended visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Shaw and Mr. and Mrs. Oakley, of Carbon, were in town during the week, visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Tricker.

The U.F.A. local branch put on a very enjoyable 500 party and dance in the Tricker hall on Friday night. The winner of the ladies' prize was Mrs. B. Hongel and the gents, T. Leary.

J. Symmons of Condor, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. O. Meyers for a few days.

Mrs. Milt Gibson was down to the City to see the hockey game played between Saskatoon and Calgary. Mrs. Gibson's brother is one of the players on the Sheik's line-up.

The Swalwell Ladies' Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. Clarke on March 10th.

Unusual excitement prevailed in town on Saturday in the bitterly fought election of municipal councillor for the division encircling Swalwell. The result of the poll was: H. Hutton 64; W. Howe 31, and two spoiled ballots.

"Worth its weight in gold" Says Ottawa Matron

Mme. Beatrice Charlebois could not hold pen to write. Nerves completely shattered, health ruined. Now alert, vigorous and strong, she gives praise to Tanlac

The two-year ordeal which she passed through before Tanlac came to her permanent relief, was recently described by Mme. Beatrice Charlebois, of 22 Rose St., Ottawa.

"What I endured in that time could not be told," she said. "I was so weak I could hardly walk. My appetite was poor and my stomach gave me end of trouble. Gas and pains would bring on fainting spells.

"My nerves were so completely shattered that I jumped in fright every time the doorbell rang. My hand trembled so that I could not hold the pen to write my name. Night after night I've gone without sleep, too nervous to lie still for even a few moments. Even my housework became too much for me.

"I tried all kinds of remedies in those two years, but can honestly say Tanlac gave me my first real relief. It built me up so that I gained 11 lbs., eat and sleep fine and have nerves as calm and steady as ever. Tanlac is worth its weight in gold." Build up your health on Tanlac, nature's own tonic made from roots, herbs and bark. Your druggist has it. Over 52 million bottles sold.

Home Owners vs. Renters

Among the many interesting and valuable reports issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, the one recently made public containing an analysis of home ownership in Canada based on the last Dominion census is most instructive. It is likewise of an encouraging character indicating, as it does, that a fairly high percentage of Canadians own their homes.

According to the figures presented, there are 2,091,512 families in Canada, and of this number 1,239,159 own their homes, as compared with 762,362 living in rented houses. In other words, 62 out of every 100 families own their homes. As is natural, and to be expected, the percentage of renters is much higher in the cities, towns and villages than in rural districts, the respective figures being: Rural home owners 78½ per cent., to renters 21½ per cent.; urban home owners 46 per cent., to urban home renters 54 per cent.

Little Prince Edward Island makes the best showing in the Dominion with 87½ per cent. rural, and 59½ per cent. urban home owners. This is an old settled portion of Canada and the population is of course, small in comparison with the other provinces.

It will be especially gratifying to the people of the prairie provinces to learn that this newer portion of the Dominion makes a strong showing. Although a young country where the people are really only beginning to become established, and to which the majority of immigrants make their way, more families already own their homes than is the case in the older provinces. Saskatchewan, the third province in Canada in point of population, follows closely after P.E.I. with 83 out of every 100 rural families and 56 out of every 100 urban families owning their homes, as compared with, say Ontario, with 76½ per cent. rural and 51½ per cent. urban home owners.

Alberta comes a close second to Saskatchewan, 81½ per cent. rural and 49½ per cent. urban families being home owners. Manitoba shows 79½ per cent. rural, and 47½ per cent. urban home owning families.

The percentage of home owning families for all Canada would be much higher but for the fact that less than one-third of the families living in the cities and towns of Quebec own their homes. In Ontario, on the other hand, the artisans and workers in the big industrial centres appear to be purchasing homes rather than renting, the percentage of urban home owners in that province being, as already stated, 51½, or the highest in the Dominion after P.E.I. and Saskatchewan, and almost equal to these two provinces.

Taken as a whole these figures are gratifying in that they reveal Canadians as a home-loving and home-building people, in marked contrast to the manner in which the residents in the big United States cities are lodged in blocks and apartment houses and dependent on restaurants, lunch counters and cafeterias. This home building characteristic of Canadians is reflected in the health of the people and the low death rate in this country as compared with other countries.

The only fly in the ointment, so far as Western Canada is concerned, is found in the fact that building lots in most if not all our Western cities and larger towns are held at too high a price, thus acting as a deterrent to home building. In view of the vast vacant acreage in which these centres of population are located, and the ease with which they can be extended, if necessary, prevailing prices for vacant city and town lots are, in many instances, absurd. They are a relic of the speculation indulged in during "boom days."

Home building by young people about to be married should be widely encouraged. It makes for permanence and happiness in the home; it is a good investment from a purely economic standpoint, while paying indirect dividends in better health than living in an apartment or block. The town or city which encourages its citizens to build and own their homes is found to be more attractive, more substantial, more prosperous, than one where a large percentage of the residents are renters, moving about from house to house, and who can easily pull up stakes and depart for other scenes.

World's Smallest Seaplane

Brilliant Future Predicted for New Type of Air Machine

The smallest seaplane in the world, one of which is destined to form part of the equipment of every submarine in the French Navy, has just been delivered at Suresnes. Named The Passkey, the perky little 'plane is the first of many dozens to be constructed.

The machine rose from the water in 9 seconds and in a few minutes attained a height of 2,000 feet. In three minutes after descending Marcel Besson had separated the machine into many parts, ready to be packed aboard the submarine.

At a convenient point the submarine can rise to the surface where the seaplane, in the time mentioned, can be assembled on deck and take the air. A brilliant future is predicted for this new type of air machine, for it is asserted that it can return to the submarine after reconnoitering and be as speedily hoisted aboard.

Pain in the Back Yields to Nerviline

If you have failed to secure relief from other remedies, rub on lots of good old "Nerviline," the strongest, most penetrating pain relief on the market. Nerviline acts quickly on small pains and is the surest to drive out the big ones. It's because every drop of Nerviline rubs in, because it has the ability to sink in deeply that it drives away pain that ordinary oily liniments won't touch. Large 35c bottles at all dealers.

Linon should be hung on the line so that the weight falls on the warp threads, that is, the threads running the long way of the cloth.

OUR WINTER WEATHER

A Trying Time for People With Weak Watery Blood

Canadian winter weather is a trying time for debilitated, run-down people. The close air of shut-up houses, lack of out-of-door exercise, the restricted diet of the season, all have their effect on weakened systems. There is always in such cases the danger of severe colds, attacks of influenza, or the still more dreaded pneumonia. There is no other time of year, when a bountiful supply of rich, red blood is so necessary; and the one way to keep the blood rich and pure and thus avoid winter trouble is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. If, unfortunately, you have fallen a victim to influenza, or other winter troubles, this same medicine will restore your health and strength. Among those who have proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Miss Margaret Pearson, R.R. No. 2, Chatham. Miss Pearson had passed through a severe attack of influenza and says: "It left me so weak and run-down, that I could scarcely walk. Anemia set in and it almost seemed as if I would not pull through the winter, as I grew so weak that the least exertion would bring on fainting spells. I was under medical treatment, but it did not help me. Then one day in our local paper I read an advertisement of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and decided to try them. By the time I had used three boxes I felt much better, and continuing the use of the pills it was not long before I felt better than I had been before the influenza attacked me. My rapid recovery surprised my friends, and when asked 'What did you do?' I would proudly say, 'Not buy doing, but Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.' To me, at least, the pills have been worth their weight in gold."

As a precaution against winter ills take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills now. Sold by all medicine dealers, or sent by mail at 50c a box by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

War Traces All Removed

Did Not Fear 'Plane Trip

Makes no Difference Where One Dies Says Passenger

A War Department report from Panama tells of a recent incident in which an army aeroplane carried an aged native woman 300 miles back to die among her own people in the Chiriqui country of Panama after physicians at the Panama City Hospital pronounced her case hopeless.

As the plane prepared to start, an interpreter asked the patient-passenger if she was not afraid to ride in an aeroplane.

"When one must die, one dies," she replied with a shrug of her shoulders.

Poisoned By Radium

Woman Was Infected While Painting Clocks Says Doctor

Radium poisoning, according to the Medical Examiner's office, was responsible for the death, in the Presbyterian hospital, New York, of Miss Elizabeth Webb, 25, of Waterbury, Conn.

It became known that Miss Webb had been employed for some time in painting clocks and similar objects with radium paint. She became ill and was removed to the hospital, where every effort was made to check the poison, which causes bone rot, an effect similar to that caused by cancer on flesh.

The Law Of Progress Is Reflected In Age-Old Science Of Surveying And Mapping

The science of surveying is one of the oldest in the world, extending back through the mists of antiquity to the early days along the banks of the Nile and, for all we know, even farther. But, although truly venerable it is not yet too old to adapt itself to modern ideas nor to appropriate whatever it may find of service in the onward march of civilization.

The "groma," one of the most ancient of surveying instruments, used for angle measuring in the early Egyptian days, was constructed from the centre ribs of datepalm leaves bound together by lashings of datepalm fibre. From this crude beginning it is a far step to some of the highly specialized and efficient instruments in use today, in the evolution of which countless inventions and adaptations have been called upon, inventions and adaptations that in their principles and application present a diversity about as wide as it is possible to conceive.

The transit-theodolite, for instance, the modern angle-measuring instrument and the logical successor to the groma, has been gradually evolved taking one idea here, another there, until it has reached its present state. That this state is by no means perfect as yet is evident from a recent tendency to effect in it further changes looking toward a lessening of weight, at the same time with an increase in compactness, stability, and accuracy.

The transit-theodolite, however, although a very important instrument to the surveyor, is not his only instrument. Many classes of surveying may be carried on where this instrument is either not used at all or, if used, plays only a minor part. Indeed sometimes instruments are used in surveying that may not be generally thought of as survey instruments.

One of these that might be mentioned is the barometer. This instrument measures the pressure of the atmosphere and is ordinarily thought of in connection with weather forecasting. But differences of atmospheric pressure also occur with differences of elevation. This principle is utilized to determine elevations of points above sea level, a matter of such vital information in topographic mapping.

As another instance, shortly after Confederation, when the great areas of Western Canada began to be opened up, our country was confronted with the necessity of providing maps of the rugged areas of the Rocky mountains. Here the usual methods of mapping were impractical and expensive, and new means had to be devised. In casting about for these the camera was seized upon and by the application of methods devised by the late Dr. E. G. Deville, surveyor-general of Canada, methods which in their development were highly technical but in their application quite simple, this work went satisfactorily ahead. There might not, upon casual consideration, appear to be much in connection between the art of taking pictures and that of mapping the country, but the method evolved, namely that of photo-topographic mapping, has since been used in all parts of the world. In this method photographs are taken of the surrounding country from high points offering commanding views and by an inversion of the principles of perspective, these photographs are translated into topographic maps.

The recent application of the aeroplane to the science of surveying is fairly generally known. When man began to fly with a reasonable degree of success, it was not long before the possibilities began to be considered of substituting the moving aeroplane for the stationary mountain peak as a support for the surveyor's camera. By so doing the method could be applied to other than mountainous country, a most valuable feature when the extent of territory still unmapped in our country is considered.

Mathematicians attacked the problem and the aerial photographic method of mapping was thus evolved, a method that has proven itself particularly adaptable to Canadian mapping needs. By this method alone the Topographical Survey, Department of the Interior, working in conjunction with the Royal Canadian Air Force, and provincial survey officials, particularly in Ontario and Quebec, last year covered 49,000 square miles of territory, an area which by other methods would represent many years' work and tremendous expense.

Third Most Populous Nation

Soviet Russia Now Exceeded Only by China and India

The Soviet Union has become the third most populous nation in the world, being exceeded only by China and India. The latest census shows that it has a population of about 165,000,000.

Within 30 years the population of Russia has increased 30 per cent. The population of the old Russian empire was 182,000,000; but 25 per cent. of that population was separated from Russia when Poland and the Baltic countries became independent after the world war.

The greatest increase has been in the cities and towns, Moscow jumping from 1,100,000 in 1897 to more than 2,000,000, and Leningrad from 1,200,000 to 1,600,000. In Tashkent the population has increased 120 per cent. within seven years. Russia is the largest country in the world geographically.

A Smart Daytime Frock

Smartly simple is the chic frock shown here. The bodice is slightly gathered to the two-piece skirt having inverted plaits at the front, back, and sides. The modish V-neck has an applied collar which would be very effective if made of contrasting material to match the trim cuffs on the long dart-fitted sleeves. Buttons, and the buckle finishing the front-closing belt, are smart details of this attractive daytime frock. No. 1518 is for misses and small women and is in sizes 16, 18 and 20 years. Size 18 (36 bust) requires 3 3/4 yards 39-inch material, or 3 yards 54-inch, and 5/8 yard 39-inch contrasting material for collar and cuffs. Price 20 cents the pattern.

Our Fashion Book, illustrating the newest and most practical styles, will be of interest to every home dressmaker. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

Game Conservation Needed

Urge Protection of the Fish and Game Life of Saskatchewan

Need of taking advantage of the experience of other parts of America by conserving the fish and game life of the province while there is time, was urged upon the members of the Saskatchewan Fish and Game Protective Association, Saskatoon Branch, by Fred Bradshaw, Regina, provincial game commissioner, and by George C. MacDonald, Prince Albert, Dominion fisheries inspector for Saskatchewan, at the annual game banquet of the association. It was pointed out that every eighth person in Saskatchewan had a car, every sixth a gun. Approving mention was also made of the proposed provincial legislation making shooting accidents and fatalities a matter for consideration under the criminal code.

Survey Vacant Lands

Vacant Property in British Columbia to be Used for Settlement Purposes

Estates in British Columbia from 4,000 acres down, many of which have been unproductive for 20 years, and most of which are owned by persons residing in England, are to be surveyed and reported on by a representative of the Canada Colonization Association to secure them for settlement. This is part of the survey being made of vacant lands all over the West. T. O. F. Herer, manager of the association, stated in an interview at Winnipeg.

The British Columbia estates referred to lie mostly in the Columbia and Okanagan Valleys and close to Vancouver.

Fruit Production Lower

Figures Show Slight Decrease For Canada in 1926

Canada's total production of commercial apples for 1926 is estimated preliminarily at 2,559,999 barrels, valued at $13,387,500, as compared with 2,913,000 barrels worth $16,709,440, the finally revised estimate for 1925. The average value per barrel in 1926 is placed at $5.25 as against $5.60 in 1925.

These figures were announced by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The total value of Canada's commercial fruit production in 1926 is $19,578,702, as compared with $22,238,745 in 1925. The province of Quebec for fruits other than apples are not included in the estimate.

Scottish Settlers In West Plan To Establish Carding Mill To Manufacture Harris Tweeds

Sustained progress is evident in the "Clan Donald" farm colony in Northern Alberta established through co-operation between the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Scottish Immigrant Aid Society, which planted one hundred families from the British Isles there last spring. In preparation for the new settlers a house and barn was erected on each of the hundred farms and a well sunk. One hundred horses and three hundred cows were purchased and distributed, as well as the necessary farm machinery. With this auspicious start no time was lost in getting seriously down to work. Ten acres had been broken on each farm before establishment and this was rapidly supplemented, some of the new farmers accounting for fifty acres in the course of the season. In all, some 2,500 acres were broken in the colony, so that a substantial harvest is forecast for the present year.

Some of the new settler families had received a year or two's practical training with Alberta farmers, but others were moved direct on to the colony from their crofts in Northern Scotland and Ireland. Both have made gratifying progress, and while waiting for their first harvest have produced income in various ways. A number of settlers found work on the C.P.R. grade construction, while over fifty engaged in stock-threshing during the harvesting season, earning an average of from $5 to $6 per day with an average run of twenty days. A number of new farms have made a success of chicken farming, and some have found turkey raising profitable. An average of two calves was raised by each settler, and arrangements were made for the exchange of all dry cows for fresh cows, so that the families were assured of milk for the winter months. Many families have managed to add other horses and cattle to those provided at the outset by the Society. Altogether a full measure of success is considered to have attended the inaugural year of the colony and great satisfaction is expressed by the sponsors.

A most interesting development planned in the colony and other parts of Alberta where settlers from the Northern Scottish Islands are settled, definite progress upon which has been made, is the manufacture of "Harris Tweeds," for which the Hebridean crofters are famous in their native land. This manufacture is a traditional industry with these people, so that most of the Alberta settlers took out their spinning wheels with them and some their hand looms. On their own initiative they have manufactured some Harris homespun which has been sold to the Hudson's Bay Company.

What is projected now by the Scottish Immigrant Aid Society is a cottage industry working in conjunction with a small industrial plant. The use of hand looms on the farms will be further encouraged, though these will be worked only intermittently, for the main part during the winter months. It is planned to establish a carding mill in the province, Red Deer, the headquarters of the Scottish Immigrant Aid Society, being suggested as the most fitting and appropriate spot. The necessary buildings are already in the possession of the Society and the greater part of the not elaborate capital has been provided by philanthropic individuals.

The scheme, which has every prospect of success, is an admirable one and one calculated to advance the best interests of the present colonists and others to be moved. A necessary farm adjunct will be a small herd of sheep which is in line with the policy of sheep raising vigorously advocated in Western Canada. An excellent market is said to exist for Harris Tweeds. Such a cottage industry can be most efficacious in ensuring farm contentment, as keeping the newcomers on the land, providing the entire family with winter employment, and adding substantially to its revenue.

A gratifying success in its work has attended the gradual development of the Scottish Immigrant Aid Society. Through its instrumentality many splendid families have been moved from all parts of the British Isles and satisfactorily established in Western Canada, where they are making progress towards independence. The work is continuing, and in the present season it is expected that many additional families, carefully selected, will be moved from the British Isles and launched out upon Canadian farming careers in the same satisfactory manner.

Increase in Wool Clip

Eleven And a Half Million Pounds Marketed in 1926

Final estimates for the wool clip of Canada for the year 1926 place the total at close to eleven and a half million pounds. Of this amount around five million pounds were used locally, the bulk of the clip in Quebec and certain new settlements in the West, consequently not reaching commercial channels. Of the remainder, about 50 per cent. or 3,804,999 pounds was marketed on a graded basis through the medium of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers. This is a substantial increase over 1925, when 3,278,000 pounds were shipped to the Co-operative.

Southern Alberta and Southern Saskatchewan, where sheep are ranged over the prairies in large flocks, are the most concentrated sheep raising areas in Canada, and consequently 1,500,000 pounds of the wool handled co-operatively came from those two sections alone. Every province, except three—New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island—reported an increase in 1926 over the previous year.

Exports of Live Stock

Exports of live stock from Alberta for the year 1926, show a considerable increase over those of 1925, according to figures recently issued by the Provincial Department of Agriculture. In 1925 a total of thirteen thousand eight hundred horses and two hundred and sixty-three thousand four hundred head of cattle were exported, compared with fifteen thousand, one hundred horses and two hundred and forty-two thousand head of cattle exported in 1926. The exports were made to other provinces, the United States and to Great Britain.

PREMIER COATES IN CANADA

The Rt. Hon. J. G. Coates, premier of New Zealand, who also holds the portfolio of Minister of Railways, passed through Canada over the Canadian National Railways recently and while in Winnipeg he inspected the Transcona shops of the company and declared them to be the best railways shops he had ever seen. He was accompanied by J. S. Hunter, official secretary to the New Zealand Railways, and they stated that a number of features characteristic of the Transcona shops of the Canadian National Railways would be adopted by the New Zealand transportation system. The photo shows Premier Coates inspecting a piece of railway shop machinery.

Bases ended in death! So a recent Canadian investigation showed. These were not cases of infectious diseases—of consumption—of typhoid! They were cases where a person had sustained some slight injury—a cut, a burn, a wire-prick—and where the wound, being thought not serious enough for careful treatment, had been neglected. Blood-poisoning and death resulted. When you or your children sustain any injury, ensure against infection by applying Zam-Buk. This balm soothes the pain, stops bleeding, and by destroying all germs prevents blood-poisoning, etc. Hence no time need be lost from work or pleasure by those who use Zam-Buk. Alberta Coarse Grain Pool

Will Be Put Into Operation If Sufficient Members Are Secured

When the new wheat contracts are sent out by the Alberta Wheat Pool, coarse grain contracts also will be distributed. If the response by the coarse grain producers is sufficient to justify the step being taken a coarse grain pool will be operated. It was stated at the offices of the pool in Calgary.

Farmers signing the coarse grain contract will have to become members of the Alberta Wheat Pool.

Coarse grain pools are in operation in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, the grain being held by the Canadian Wheat Pool, or central selling agency. With the 1925-26 crop that agency sold 10,050,600 bushels of oats; 10,612,219 bushels of barley; 1,535,430 bushels of rye and 1,363,903 bushels of wheat.

No Danger of Gasoline Famine

If Oil Falls Motor Fuel Could Be Made Says New Jersey Man

There is little chance of the nation's gas tank going dry, even in the remote future, George H. Jones, chairman of the directors of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, said at a banquet in Oil City, Pa. "But if in all this we are mistaken, if well oil fails in the future to constitute an ample supply," he said, "we are certainly already in a position to rest assured that we can make a motor fuel similar to gasoline from raw materials, such as oil shale and coal, which are available in enormous quantities."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

SERVING IN AND THROUGH THE CHURCH

Golden Text: We are God's fellow-workers.—1 Corinthians 3:9.

Lesson: Matthew 5:13-16; Acts 2:42-47.

Devotional Reading: Ephesians 3:14-21.

Explanations and Comments

1. Responsibilities of Disciples, Matthew 5:13-16.—"Ye are the salt of the earth," Jesus declared. Salt was used in sacrifice by Jews, Greeks, and Romans, and was an emblem of purity and of the influence of holy life upon others. Salt preserves from corruption; Jesus was reminding His disciples that it was their duty to keep others from moral corruption.

"Fearlessly to speak the words which bear witness to righteousness and truth and purity; patiently to do the deeds which strengthen virtue and kindle hope in your fellowmen; generously to lend a hand to those who are trying to climb upward; faithfully to give your support and your personal help to efforts which are making to elevate and purify the social life of the world—that is what it means to have salt in your character."—(Henry Van Dyke.)

"But," continued Jesus, "if the salt have lost its savor, wherewith shall it be salted?" They must beware lest they lose their Christian character and become as useless in His Kingdom as salt that has become good for nothing and is cast out upon the ground and trodden under foot or men. That this was no mere figure of speech, Dr. Thompson shows: see Light from Oriental Life.

"Christ was giving a clear and powerful call to duty. His thought was not that his disciples should congratulate themselves on being better than other men. He wished them to ask themselves whether they actually had in them the purpose and the power to make other men better. Did they intend to exercise a purifying, seasoning, saving influence in the world? Were they going to make their presence felt on earth and felt for good? If not, they would be failures and frauds. The savor would be out of them."—(Henry Van Dyke.)

May Visit Canada

The London Sunday Times learns that although the Prince of Wales and Premier Stanley Baldwin intend visiting Canada in the present year, it is highly improbable that they will be able to attend the celebration of the Dominion's 60th birthday on July 1, as their departure for Canada will not take place until the end of July or early in August. Premier Baldwin's plans will largely depend on the political situation then.

Suffered Constantly from Backache

Gin Pills Recommended

Immediate Relief

If your back aches with a dull, sore pain, or if you have had headaches, then your kidneys are certainly affected. You need Gin Pills. They go right to the kidneys and soothe the inflamed tubules. They restore them to normal and the impurities of the blood stream are again filtered from the system. Mrs. J. Reid of Vancouver writes:

"Just a word of thanks for the good I have derived from the use of Gin Pills. For years I suffered constantly from backache, in fact, I was almost an invalid, couldn't do my own house work. Gin Pills were recommended to me by a friend. I started using them and obtained almost immediate relief and I am glad to say I can now do my own house work, thanks to Gin Pills. I most gladly recommend them to anyone suffering from kidney trouble."

Gin Pills are the universal remedy for backache and kidney trouble and are sold everywhere at 50c a box. National Drug & Chemical Co., of Canada, Limited, Toronto, Canada.

C. N. RAILWAY ESTIMATES ARE Tabled IN HOUSE

Ottawa.—Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance tabled estimates of $21,000,000 for the Canadian National Railways for the present fiscal year. The estimates are the same as were brought down last session less $10,000,000 then voted.

An estimate for $1,000,000 for the Canadian Government merchant marine was also tabled by Mr. Robb. This represents the main estimate for the Merchant Marine of last session less $200,000 then voted. The total appropriation to the Canadian National and the Merchant Marine in the estimates is $21,000,000.

They are classified as loans.

Five petitions asking for the transfer of the natural resources of Alberta to that province without interference, were presented in the House.

A pension not to exceed $2,500 per annum for Canadian winners of the Victoria Cross in the Great War is suggested by T. L. Church, M.P., Toronto.

A bill to amend the Railway Act by the establishing of special freight rates on coal was introduced in the House by Mr. Church. It received first reading. The Toronto member said coal should be carried on the same special rate basis as grain and flour.

E. J. Garland, U.F.A., Bow River, has placed a resolution on the order paper declaring that Canada's prime minister should be under obligation to obtain the sanction of the majority of the House before advising His Excellency the Governor-General to dissolve parliament.

A measure to give financial assistance to the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair Association will be introduced by Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture.

Notice has been given by the Government of legislation for establishment of rural credits, old age pensions, for revaluation of Soldier Settlement lands, for the penny post on drop letters and abolition of tax on receipts. The legislation was before the House last session but failed to become law. Furthermore the Government is bringing down a bill for a loan of $12,000,000 to the Montreal Harbor Commissioners and a bill to confirm the scheme of arrangement of August 26, 1926, with the holders of four per cent. debenture stock of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.

Immigration Shows Increase

January Report Shows More Arrivals Than in January 1926

Montreal.—As an indication that a substantial increase in immigration to Canada will be experienced this season it is stated by the Canadian National Railways that arrivals at the Atlantic port of Halifax so far this year show an increase of approximately 51 per cent. in comparison with arrivals during the similar period of 1926.

The month of January and the beginning of February is a period when large numbers arrive in the Dominion and an increase in the first weeks of the year is regarded as promising.

Ontario Liquor Commission

Toronto, Ont.—Premier Ferguson's "strong man" for the Ontario Liquor Commission will be the former president and chairman of the Canadian National railways, D. B. Hanna, the prime minister announced. The premier further announced that Mr. Hanna would be "buttressed" by two commissioners, Stewart McClenaghan, former Conservative M.P., Ottawa, and Hon. R. J. Manion, Conservative M.P. for Fort William.

Byrd Enters Competition

Will Take Part in Trans-Atlantic Flight for $25,000 Prize

New York.—Commander Richard Evelyn Byrd, air conqueror of the North Pole, will compete this spring for the $25,000 prize offered by Raymond Orteig for the first non-stop flight between New York and Paris. The New York Times says.

A Fokker monoplane of the Josephine Ford type, in which Byrd reached the top of the world, is now being built for the flight for use in the forthcoming flight. The new machine, slightly larger than the Josephine Ford, will be driven by three Wright whirling engines of 225 horsepower each.

Just when Byrd will start had not yet been learned. The Times says, although it is believed that he will leave in the late May or early June.

His plane will have a flying radius of at least 4,000 miles, providing a fair factor of safety in the 3,600-mile trip from New York to Paris. One-third of the distance will be over land.

On his coming flight, Byrd may oppose Captain Rene Fonck, the French ace. Fonck and Lieut. Commander Noel Davis, officer in charge of naval activities of the navy department, are reported to be contemplating entering the race.

Commander Byrd will probably fly along the New England coast to Newfoundland and then along the great circle to the Southern tip of England and France.

May Visit Canada Later

Official Visit of King George Possible Says London Paper

London.—"It is to be hoped that Canadians will understand the real impossibility of King George's accepting the invitation to visit the Dominion in July," declares The Weekly Truth.

"A month's absence from England at that time of the year is so clearly out of the question that it is a wonder His Majesty should have been put in the position of having to refuse the invitation.

"Canada is near enough for the King to make an official visit one of these days," Truth continues. "But if it comes to that, so is Dublin. We do not hope that the day will come when a royal visit to the Irish Free State would be as agreeable to all parties as to any other of the British commonwealth nations."

War Expenses Increase

Expenditures Resulting From Great War Bear Heavily on Canada

Ottawa.—Canada's expenditures directly resulting from the Great War are not decreasing. During the fiscal year ended last March, the Dominion spent $45,968,241 on pensions, war claims, soldier land settlement and re-establishment, memorials and war graves. The sum represents a net increase of $872,971 over the previous fiscal year. The figures do not include the interest on that part of the public debt attributable to the war.

These figures are published in the auditor general's report.

REFERENDUM IN MANITOBA ON THE SALE OF BEER

Winnipeg.—Premier John Bracken gave the Legislature an outline of the Government's policy toward the proposed referendum in the province on the sale of beer.

The Government, he said, proposes to introduce a bill which before its passage may be worded to suit all parties in the Legislature. This bill will be submitted in the form of a referendum.

The premier was answering criticism directed against the Government during the course of the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the Throne, in which Opposition leaders had inferred that the Government was trying to avoid responsibility by submitting to the people a bill from some outside source. Premier Bracken was emphatic in stating that a referendum on the beer question was justified.

Mr. Bracken outlined the Government's policy on immigration and colonization. He forecast the creation of a central agricultural development board, with sub-agencies throughout the province, to add, direct and generally supervise settlement of vacant lands. He also intimated that a competent mining expert from the University of Manitoba would be engaged to direct the Government's work in assisting development of minerals.

Heart Disease Ranks First

Proposed Creamery Merger

Matter is Introduced in Saskatchewan Legislature by Premier Gardiner

Regina.—Premier Gardiner's announcement of the amalgamation of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries, Limited, Moose Jaw, was made in the Saskatchewan legislature. He moved the adjournment of the house in order to make his statement, which was received in tense silence. There was discussion on the statement and after the premier withdrew his motion for the adjournment, the house proceeded with routine business.

"The government has been made acquainted with the fact that the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries, Limited, had approached Caulder's Creameries, Limited, with a view to an amalgamation and that negotiations with this object in view have been under way for some time," said Premier Gardiner.

"It is considered by those interested that the proposed amalgamation will make possible the operation of the new company in such a manner as to greatly benefit the dairy industry of the province.

"It will be necessary, if the amalgamation is consummated, for certain amendments to be made to the present Co-operative Creameries act. It is intended that the proposed new company shall operate under the name of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries, Limited, and under the Co-operative Creameries act.

"In the event amending legislation being brought before the house an opportunity will then be offered for a full discussion of the whole matter."

Soviets Restore Part of Land Confiscated After Revolution

Moscow. Departing from its unusual principle of nationalization, the Soviet Government has restored to Feodor Chaliapin, noted singer, part of his 800 acre estate in the province of Yaroslavl, expecting that he will return to Russia soon. The estate, confiscated after the revolution, for the present will be occupied by Chaliapin's wife and family, who are living in a flat in Moscow.

CIVIL SERVICE IS TO BENEFIT BY SALARY REVISION

Ottawa. The Civil Service Commission, which for some months has been carrying out instructions of the Government for a report on salary revision, has completed its work. The report, however, which is about to be taken up by the cabinet council, may not be made public until it is considered by that body.

It is understood that a horizontal increase in salaries is recommended affecting all grades up to those receiving an annual salary of $4,000. The change that is proposed applies both to the inside and outside service and the total increased expenditure entailed would be $2,900,000 a year. Everybody is in line for an increase, both in the temporary and permanent classifications, and the extra money that is proposed to be provided is designed to absorb the costs of living bonus which was instituted some years ago and meanwhile has been subjected to different modifications. In some cases the civil servants will get the full amount of the bonus they originally received and in others they will not.

According to the classification, the increases vary from $60 to $180 a year. The lower grade employees get the larger amount. It is not proposed that the new schedule of salaries will be retroactive, but rather that they will date from the coming fiscal year. The report will be considered by the cabinet and if it is approved, the necessary financial appropriations will be made in the estimates to be submitted at the present session.

Insurrection In Portugal

Two Hundred Persons Reported Killed in Oporto

London. Two hundred persons were killed in the fighting at Oporto, says a Daily Mail dispatch from Vigo, quoting a newly arrived traveller from the centre of the Portuguese revolt.

A bomb fell into the room in the Grand Hotel, occupied by the United States consul, who had left only five minutes before. The room was wrecked.

Those killed during the course of the revolt included Lopez Telles, director of Diaro do Oporto; Alvaro Castro, Republican leader; General Norton de Matos, former war minister; General Jaime de Morais and General Sousa Diaz.

Many of the most important buildings in Oporto, among them the public library and post office, were destroyed.

Britain Replies To U.S.

Considered Tantamount to Rejection of U.S. Terms for Entering World Court

Geneva.—Great Britain has informed the League of Nations that she is replying to the United States on that country's world court reservations in accordance with the terms of the instrument drawn up in Geneva at the world court conference last year.

As this instrument did not accept completely the fifth United States reservation concerning advisory opinions, it is considered here that the British reply is tantamount to rejection of the conditions governing the United States' possible entry into the world court.

Large Sum Paid Depositors

Claimants on Home Bank Receive $2,728,262 From Federal Government

Ottawa.—Home Bank depositors have received to date a total of $2,728,262 from the Federal Government. A statement tabled in the House of Commons showed that during 1926 the department of finance paid claimants on the defunct bank a sum of $1,898,413. In 1925 the amount paid to claimants was $849,849.

HARD FOR THE JUDGES

Anyone who thinks that a judge in a beauty contest in Saskatchewan has a sincere has only to glance at the above pictures to have that impression corrected. The beauties who are pictured above are but four of a dozen beautiful young women who are candidates for the Queen's Crown at the Northern Saskatchewan Winter Carnival which is being held in Prince Albert, March 8th to 11th, inclusive. Miss Eagle and Miss Graham are Prince Albert girls; Miss Cuelenaere is from Leask, Saskatchewan, and Miss Mary Gaston from Shellbrook. Other candidates have entered from Saskatoon, Regina, Cadworth, Blaine Lake, Star City, Kinistno, Wakaw, Doremy.

Being Queen of the Northern Saskatchewan Winter Carnival is no empty honor. She and her court will start the big dog derby which has as its main prize the silver challenge trophy donated by Premier King and she will be enthroned in the place of honor at all the other events including the ball to be held every evening in the armories. The carnival is the biggest thing ever attempted in Western Canada and the lady who will rule it with her sceptre will have to be every inch a queen.

The photographs are by the Canadian National Railways which are co-operating to make the carnival a success.

French-Canadian Chanson Has New Lease of Life

1. Charles Marchand, well known French-Canadian folk song singer in typical pose.
2. Chansons have kept the spirits of log-jam breakers high at many a difficult task.
3. Singing and paddling went well together.

Perhaps the only part of the North American continent that possesses an authentic collection of folk-lore songs is the province of Quebec. Four hundred years ago when the first French explorers and settlers came to the shores of the St. Lawrence many of these songs were on their lips and in their hearts and they have never died out. It is to the honor of the French-Canadian race that they have never been allowed to fade from the remembrance of the people, nor has the flood of ephemeral and rubbishy popular songs of the day overwhelmed them. Originally sung at the court of the French monarchs, they were passed on from father to son, and were brought with the early settlers from France to Canada. And as the years have passed the old ballads have been supplemented by new ones created by the lumbermen and habitants; for music is a living art in French Canada. Only within recent years have we begun to realize how rich is the treasury of lovely melodies associated with the folk songs of Canada. Thanks to men like Charles Marchand, interpreter of the French-Canadian "chanson", these folk songs have taken on new life, and before long they will be available for the English speaking population of Canada, owing to the efforts of John Murray Gibbon, whose translations will be published in book form early in the year.

With the idea of popularizing the English versions and thereby bringing about a closer understanding between the French and English elements of Canada, Mr. Marchand is at present making a transcontinental concert tour under the auspices of the National Council of Education.

APPLE SAUCE

Last night I held a little hand,
So dainty and so neat;
I thought my heart would surely break,
So wildly it did beat.
I gazed at it with loving looks,
I fondled it with joy—
No other hand unto my soul
Can greater solace bring.
Than that one which I held last night—
Four aces and a king!

The Aberdonian took his family to a tea shop.

"Can I get anything for you, sir?" asked the waitress.

"Aye, lassie," replied Sandy looking around the table, "give me a cup of tea and five saucers."

Crank—How did you cure your wife from her antique craze?

Shaft—Oh, I just gave her a 1907 model car for her birthday.

Jackie—When can I shave like Dad does, Mummy?

Mother—Not for a long time yet Jackie—But why not? I know most of the words already.

Immigration to Canada for the eleven months of the calendar 1926 ended November 30, amounted to 130,569 persons, according to a recent statement issued by the Department of Immigration and Colonization. This is an increase of 61 per cent. over the same period of 1925, when the total immigration was 80,904.

The Maori Rugby Football team, who have recently completed a successful tour of France and Great Britain, passed through Montreal recently en route over the Canadian Pacific lines to Vancouver, where they sailed for New Zealand January 27. This team won, during their eight-month tour, 22 of 31 games played.

According to recent compilation by the Canadian Government, Canada now leads the world in public per capita distribution of electricity from central power stations. The figures of kilowatt-hours generated per capita per annum by the five leading countries are: Canada, 1,260; Switzerland, 886; United States, 581; Sweden, 467; Norway, 370.

The Russian Government is to buy another herd of Canadian horses this spring, it was announced at the Alberta Provincial Horse Breeders' Association meeting in Calgary recently. R. E. Wilson, Dominion Government agent, who was responsible for the statement, declared that from 2,000 to 5,000 horses would be required.

He would have made his speculations and sought to hint of the mystery which was to be revealed upon the open air stage, but he was suddenly conscious of a stiffening of the slender body that stood close to him. He followed Joanna's gaze and saw two figures crossing the terrace which faced the Tribunal.

John, in flannels and blue, his strong, well set form bearing its new poise of easy confidence, stood for a moment with Yvonne at the top of the terrace steps between two stone images. Yvonne was very youthful and beautiful in the orchid tones she affected for tennis and golf. The single golf stick John carried was evidence that they had come in from a round of holes over the little Amette fairway that stretched across the ravines and flat spaces of Cap Martin. Brandon saw that Yvonne looked often into the face of the man beside her; and that she rested her hand on his sleeve, and fluttered it about his wrist. And he saw, too, that Joanna watched, and that the marks of her teeth were redder than the flesh red of her lips.

Brandon reached down and found Joanna's hand. He gave her fingers a gentle pressure. As if something started in her body relaxed. And as if she were announcing the conclusion of some very deep considerations, she said:

"I have decided to have the trellis roof that will be over the crowd when it gathers here for my little surprise, made with mimosa blossoms. I must have them gathered. It will take a great many."

"Have you chosen them," Brandon asked softly, "because you like their heavy, intoxicating perfumes, or because they reveal so many colors, and in their form are snake like?"

She waited a moment, and then said, irrelevantly it seemed: "The perfumes of mimosa either steal one's senses or dull them. They seem to match so many people."

They went toward the house, but stopped at a bench under a natural harbor that enclosed a tiny garden. Brandon gently urged her onto the bench and sat beside her.

"Were we?" she asked, looking at him, coolly. "You were telling me that Yvonne is following the only honest path for a woman to take; that she is going straight to the goal of her desire. I believe you said that she must see some promise of novelty in stirring John's madness, and satisfaction in proving that she could go where only an angel would be welcome. You had gone so far as to advise me that it was time I drop my pretenses and take love as I find it. I didn't know you were particularly trying to get anywhere."

Brandon, who had remained on the bench when the girl stood, rose. If there was a mark to drop his fell for a fleeting moment. He caught Joanna's arm and swung her about until she stood close and looked up into his face. But when he spoke his voice was like the smoothness of the motor in her Daimler car. It purred. And it was insolent.

"I said all of that, and more," he murmured. "I said that you were a cheat; an impostor in the order you have chosen to enter. You are playing every night and day of your life with flame, and foolishly think you aren't being burned, but you are. The deadliest burning, you know, is the kiss of an invisible fire that goes deep before it pains. You are being scorched by the ridicule of those who know that you only pretend that you don't understand Kenilworth, Michael, and the others, and the contempt they have for one who tries to be discreet but is only deceitful. We had got that far."

For an instant anger flamed in the gold brown eyes that looked up into his; she trembled, and the tangerine glow came into her cheeks. Then she was calm, again, and inscrutable.

"But what futile progress!" she mocked him. "You read me a lesson from a book I learned by heart, long ago—when I was Twenty-seven of the silks. It used to be, you know, that we needed to be told that if we invited we would be expected to accept; that if we made ourselves into a welcome sign we might as well say 'come in.' We've learned all that now. And we know when to say 'come in' and when to say 'go to the devil!' How much further did you think to go?"

He still spoke softly; still reminded her of the low hum of the motor in her car. "Far beyond all of that, my dear Joanna! Up to the very edge of all your make-believe." Suddenly his manner changed. He dropped the hand he had held with a tight nerveless clasp. His smile came back to the corners of his mouth. He spoke airily. "But the moment has fled, hasn't it?" he exclaimed. "One must not profess love and make its demands and propose its bargains when tempers are out of tune; should they?"

She regarded him from half closed lids before she spoke. Then she said:

"You are the cheat, you know, Be-

"I have been too close to you," he said, "to fear that you will be offended with me when I ask you to drop your barriers low enough for us to talk across them—of young Wilmore, and his strange fascination for Yvonne."

She stiffened immediately and attempted to rise. Brandon caught her and brought her down beside him again.

"I fancy she is only repaying me," she breathed, her glance probing the flowers at her feet. "It is said that I have stolen all her courtiers, you know. I haven't tried to, but I suppose I have. You have all wanted me to take you from her, it seems. And I've wondered why. Now it is only fair that she should do the thing that, to her, must seem retaliation."

"It is retaliation, isn't it? She is taking from you the one you'd rather not lose?"

She turned her eyes full into his. There was much of bitterness in her tone, when she answered him, and much earnestness, too.

He followed Joanna's gaze and saw John in flannels and blue—with Yvonne at the top of the terrace steps.

"I am not at all sure of that. I don't think I am glad that John came down to the Riviera, but now that he has come, and I have seen him and he has seen me again, I am not very deeply concerned about him. You wanted to know just how I feel—that was your real question. Well I haven't stayed awake a single hour because Yvonne has taken a fancy to John and he is making a silly fool of himself." She was silent for a time, while Brandon watched her quietly. Joanna always added something to whatever she was serious about. As he expected it came, suddenly:

"He never did know very much about a girl. It will do him good to learn all that Yvonne can teach him."

CHAPTER XXVIII Lady Weymouth

A car, turning in at the Amette gate and rolling up the road to the veranda of the villa, reminded Joanna that Lady Weymouth, Teddy Dormister's sister, had telephoned early in the morning that she would like to have a come out for a chat. "Something rather personal between you and me, my dear," she had said in her impulsive, staccato way. "You may give me a cup of tea, and a brandy and soda and when we've had a chat show me over the grounds, if you will. I am all excited by what I hear of the preparations you are making for your big affair."

Brandon frowned when Joanna got up from the bench and insisted that she must go to the house to greet her visitor.

"But we were just beginning to get somewhere, weren't we?" he protested.

cause you hadn't said anything about love! You'd been trying to get where ever you were starting for without that part of it. Next time, remember. Neither Roddy nor Michael were so clumsy as to forget."

Hugh Eckner Places Big Ship at Disposal of Soviets

The Soviet Official Agency announces that Professor Eckner, director of the Zeppelin Company, has placed at the disposal of a company which is being formed in Leningrad, a Zeppelin airship for a flight to the polar regions for which preparations are being made.

The flight is to start from Leningrad and continue via Murmansk to the various Soviet Arctic territories north of Alaska. The Soviet announcement says that a series of exploration flights are intended, but does not mention the date of the start.

HOW TO RELIEVE CHILDREN'S COLDS

Avoid Serious Results by Using Baby's Own Tablets

When a child shows the first symptoms of a cold, such as sneezing, redness of the eyes, clogged or running nose, prompt measures of relief may avert serious results. Mothers should always have on hand some simple, safe and effective remedy for immediate use.

Baby's Own Tablets act quickly, contain no opiates or narcotics, are tasteless and harmless. Mrs. Joseph Cadieux, Holyoke, Mass., says:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for my children and find them a very satisfactory medicine. When my little boy had a cold I gave him the Tablets at night and he was well next day. I give them to the children for constipation and they always do good. I think Baby's Own Tablets are much easier to give a child than liquid medicine. I recommend the Tablets to all mothers who have small children and believe they should always be kept on hand."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Little Helps For This Week

Rich toward God.—Luke xii, 21.

Richest are they
That live for Christ so well,
The longest day
Would scarce suffice to tell
In what wide ways their benefactions fell.

Rich with no very great things, but with the little daily self-denials, the speaking a cheerful word when the heart is weary, the patient, steady performance of duties that come with every returning day;—little things, and yet they contain the riches with which God is well pleased.

Freedom from Asthma. Asthma is one of the most distressing troubles, sudden in its attacks and prolonged in its agonies. Frequently many things are tried, but nothing seems to give hope of relief. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is the one help which can be depended upon. If you have tried other remedies without success, do not fail to get at once a package of this uniformly successful preparation.

Should Pay for Protection

Writing in the London Sunday Observer, Colonel Right Hon. Josiah Wedgwood, Labor Member of Parliament, suggested that as Britain gets nothing by her protection of Egypt, she should transfer the protection of that country to Italy. Or if Egypt wants Great Britain to insure her external peace, she should pay Britain about $3,000,000 annually.

Miller's Worm Powders will purge the stomach and intestines of worms so effectively and so easily and painlessly that the most delicate stomach will not feel any inconvenience from their action. They recommend themselves to mothers as a preparation that will restore strength and vigor to their children and protect them from the debilitating effects which result from the depredations of worms.

India Desires Autonomy

Lord Willoughby Says Conditions in the East are Changing Fast

"If we show a real desire to assist India to get control of her own affairs, and help the Indians to be masters in their own houses, I believe India will want us to stay with her for many long years," declared Lord Willoughby in an address before the Canadian Club at Ottawa. His Excellency related some reminiscences of his term as viceroy in India for 11 years.

"We must always remember," continued the Governor-General, "that the East is changing very fast and that India is determined to have more responsibility in regard to the administration of India's affairs and determined to be treated on a basis of equality."

In his 11 years' administration of India, Lord Willoughby had found Indians on the whole loyal, very responsive, very friendly and very amenable to the laws of the land.

The Governor-General also expressed his thanks for certain assistance Canada had rendered in the work of development of India, while he was located at Madras.
